the short version is that he's being treated for pandas (sometimes referred to as pans) an acute neurological condition that typically shows up in children between ages 3-14 adipex is typically prescribed to people in the "obese" bmi range there is no cure yet; i started a conversation to find a cure he then asked why, as he had dieted away a stone in weight and the level appeared quite normal, was he being advised to double the dose you make your money off of people who are loyal to you