studies that require DSM diagnoses of an eating disorder and studies that merely require a person to score